NC-3 FOUND TRAVELING UNDER ITS OWN POWER Hawker Reported Seen Off The Coast Of Ireland Flood Of Bills In Congress To Repeal War-Time Legislation

NC-4 Ready To Resume Flight

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—The naval seaplane NC-3, commanded by Commander J. H. Towers, last in mid-ocean since 5:35 Saturday morning, was today reported to the navy department proceeding toward Ponta Delgada under her own power, seven miles from land.

This message was received at the navy department early this afternoon from Rear Admiral Jackson at Ponta Delgada: "The NC-3, located seven miles north of Ponta Delgada, under her own power."

The message was filed at 12:10 p. m. Washington time, and while it was being received, the crew, naval officers were certain that Commander Towers and his four men were safe. Details of the men's experience in the plane during the more than 15 hours they spent in fog and storm, were reported soon after the NC-3 reached Ponta Delgada.

Admiral Jackson's report was taken here to mean that Commander Towers after having been forced to alight on the water by fog, had been blown onshore and eastward by the storm until he was able to taxi his plane safely in the surface probably 500 miles from the point where fog had blown him down when within a short distance of the "land fall" at the Azores.

PONTA DELGADA, AZORES, May 19.—The NC-4, which is being towed by the tugboat "Tona" Saturday afternoon after they had been blown and then in the water for five hours in their damaged plane. All the members were followed and suffering from seasickness when picked up. The plane is almost a total wreck.

LONDON, May 19.—The manager of the Sopwith Airplane Company received a report at 5 o'clock this afternoon that Aviator Hawker was 150 miles off Ireland at 4 p. m. today.

LONDON, May 19.—A map shop in Fleet street, this afternoon was showing a chart purporting to give Hawker's position at 1:30 o'clock a. m. at about longitude 32, latitude 52. There is no confirmation of this report, however, from any other source.

LONDON, May 19.—The air ministry announced shortly after 5 o'clock that it had no confirmation of the report that Hawker was off Ireland at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

LONDON, May 19.—The Sopwith Airplane Company has received a report that Hawker was 500 miles off the Irish coast at 3 p. m.

LONDON, May 19.—Harry G. Hawker, in his airplane has been sighted off Ireland, according to an unofficial report received by the American navy here.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 19.—In the absence of any word from Harry G. Hawker, and Commander Mackenzie Grieve, who started on their death-defying flight to reach the Irish coast yesterday, navigators and aviators here early today sought the weather reports received from vessels in mid-ocean to learn under what conditions the daring Britishers are making their non-stop dash in an attempt to beat the Yankee air sailors. Every indication pointed to favorable observation conditions, with high visibility from a clear sky and a full moon only four days old.

Atmospheric conditions improved during the night, according to reports received here. For the first 200 miles quivering ahead winds prevailed, but for the next thousand miles beyond a light west wind obtained. Except for a report of unimportant low pressure over Ireland, all messages received indicated generally improving weather conditions.

It was calculated by navigators here that Hawker and Grieve would meet the sun about 4:23 o'clock this morning approximately at 21 degrees west longitude. This was assuming that the flyers would maintain a speed averaging 100 miles an hour. Hawker expected to average 106 miles an hour. The little Sopwith bi-plane carried sufficient fuel for a 22 hour flight under ordinary conditions and enough for 24 hours if very favorable weather conditions should obtain.

Hawker's machine carried a wireless transmitter capable of a 200 mile radius and it was estimated that this distance was covered during the first two hours. After that the flyers were isolated except that their calls might be relayed by passing ships.

Another Entry Wrecked

Captain Frederick P. Rayham, whose attempt to join Hawker in his dash for non-stop honors and make a race of it, met with accident, inquired several times during the night for news of his rival and expressed the hope that Hawker and Grieve would attain their objective. Captain Rayham, pilot of the Martinsyde machine and his navigator, Captain C. M. F. Morgan, sustained painful injuries when their plane was wrecked yesterday in attempting to take the air in answer to Hawker's challenge to join in the flight. Captain Rayham was able to drive his automobile away from his (Continued On Page Six)

PRICES NOT EXPECTED TO DROP MUCH

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—Prices may not be expected to drop much in the near future, according to indications of reports reaching the federal reserve board. The reserve board's bulletin for May, says that apparently "the business community has given up the thought it may profitably await a further considerable reduction in prices and is now contenting itself with the development of trade along lines dependent upon at least the temporary maintenance of existing levels."

Though prices of a few commodities have fallen slightly, these declines have not yet been effected in retail prices, says the review.

"What is now happening," it adds, "seems to indicate that business will, after a period of initial readjustment in prices, proceed upon a level not far removed from that established during the war."

BIG SHAKE-UP IN WAR RISK INSURANCE DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—The war risk insurance bureau, through which 4,000,000 soldiers or their dependents receive payments of insurance, allotments or compensation, was in process of sudden reorganization today through the appointment of H. A. Chomley-Jones, formerly a New York business man, now a colonel in the bureau's section in France, as director to succeed Colonel Henry D. Lindsey, who resigned yesterday in a clash with Secretary Glass, in which he charged the treasury department with placing restraints on the organization which were making it a "colossal failure."

Secretary Glass, in a public reply to Colonel Lindsey's charges and the changes are said to forecast a thorough shake-up of the big bureau which bears a closer home relation to the soldiers than any other agency of the government.

Clouds of charges have been hovering over the bureau for months and congressional investigation is expected.

REPUBLICANS IN CONTROL WILL HEAR PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TUESDAY

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—Congress organized itself today during the first hours of the extraordinary session with the election of Representative Gillett as speaker of the house and Senator Cummins, of Iowa, as president pro-tempore of the senate. Tomorrow both houses meet to hear President Wilson's message cabled from Paris. A flood of speeches on the peace treaty and the League of Nations are expected to follow.

The avalanche of bills proposing to undo much of the war time legislation of the Democratic party, started today. Promptly at noon today the extraordinary session of congress got smoothly under way. With Republicans in the majority in both branches, the leaders plunged into the work of organization.

In both house and senate, the program, well arranged in advance, started off as it had been planned. Vice President Marshall presided in the latter and Clerk South Tremble in the former. The usual prayers and then the reading of President Wilson's proclamation preceded the calling of the rolls. Then the house proceeded to the business of electing a speaker—Representative Gillett, of Massachusetts, and the senate turned to electing a president pro-tempore, Senator Cummins, of Iowa.

By a majority of five votes, the Republicans took control of the senate, electing Senator Sumner, president pro-tempore and defeating Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, Democrat, by a record vote of 47 to 42.

The business of swearing in new senators was disposed of quickly as they came to the vice president's desk in fours. In the house where there were a greater number of new members, it took longer. All the Republican senators were present; four Democrats were absent.

In the house a flood of bills relating to scores of subjects were tossed into a great waste basket provided for the occasion. As expected, a large number proposed repeal of war taxes, and return of public utilities taken over by the government.

REPUBLICANS REIGN IN HOUSE

In the house the Republicans effected organization by electing Representative Frederick H. Gillette, of Massachusetts, speaker over Champ Clark, of Missouri, speaker for the last eight years.

When the name of Victor Berger, of Wisconsin, was called in the house today as new members were sworn in, Representative Hollander, of Massachusetts, (Continued On Page Six)

PROPOSAL TO FEED RUSSIA REJECTED

PARIS, Sunday, May 18.—There is a general impression that the reply of M. Tchitcherine, Bolshevik foreign minister, to Dr. Fridtjof Nansen's proposals to feed Russia, brings the whole project to a close. The reply is generally accepted here as in effect a refusal by the Bolsheviks to cease attempting to invade their neighbor's territory.

It seems improbable that the allies and associated governments will support with food any Bolshevik attempts to invade adjacent states. The allied appeal was a frank attempt to end the fighting around the borders of Russia and at the same time to save the Russian people from starvation. If the Bolsheviks persist in trying to destroy the law and order outside of Russia proper, the allied attitude will not doubt be to vote for no peace and no food.

OHIO PERMITTED TO FIGHT W. VA. BAN ON GAS

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—The supreme court today granted the petition of Ohio and Pennsylvania to permit to institute original proceedings against the state of West Virginia to test the validity of a state law restricting the transportation of natural gas from that state into neighboring states. The case was made arguable October 6, next.

The supreme court today ordered a statement of test proceedings in the constitutionality of prohibition of the income tax net of 1918, which would be heard next fall.

It was asking for a temporary injunction to restrict West Virginia from enforcing the law pending termination of the case, were requested by attorneys representing Ohio and Pennsylvania and taken under consideration.

APPEALS FOR RETURN TO PRIVATE OWNERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—Members of congress today received an appeal from Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and G. W. Robinson, president of the United States Independent Telephone Association, asking for speedy legislation to enable the return of the telephone properties throughout the country to their private owners. Since last November, Mr. Vail has been "personal adviser" in Postmaster General Burleson in the government control of the wire systems.

The appeal says that in view of the announcements by both President Wilson and the postmaster general that government control would end as soon as arrangements could be made for advantageous operation of the wire systems, action by congress is the only remaining steps necessary. It is further contended that unless congress acts promptly, the deterioration of the properties, caused by the failure to secure revenues to meet greatly increased expenditures thereon, in some localities a return to public ownership, or operation.

PLAN HEALTH NURSE FOR EVERY COMMUNITY

Red Cross nurses have been appointed who will travel during the summer on Chautauque circuits to call the attention of Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky communities to the need for a public health nurse in every community.

Miss Edith Stedman, chief nurse of the Red Cross commission under Dr. John H. Finley in Palestine and Miss Edith Ambrose, already have their literary lists.

In accordance with the plan of the American Red Cross, recently announced to take Division Headquarters, every effort will be made to supply in every community, where the public health agencies already exist, through Red Cross public health service, nurses who will instruct in simple hygienic measures and ways to prevent the panic of widespread epidemics.

To carry out this extensive program of public health education the Red Cross through its Department of Nursing is urging the enrollment of as many nurses as possible in its public health service. Since the first of the year the Lake Division office, at Cleveland, has received 22 applications from which 24 nurses have been enrolled. ARMY RECRUITING CAMP HERE

Talk about the Army of Occupation! An army has occupied Portsmouth and will be camped here for about ten days, the site of their camp being York Park, on the river front. This army in miniature, consists of about fourteen men all told, each man having been active service in foreign fields, and with a store of knowledge pertaining to army matters, and with stories of bravery as good as ever have been written. These men during their stay in Portsmouth will recruit for the United States army, especially for the 40th Infantry.

They will demonstrate army life to the citizens of Portsmouth, who are invited to visit the camp. There will be a flag-raising and the impressive ceremony at twilight when the flag is lowered at retreat.

A bugler is with the men and his calls will no doubt make many a returned service man now home, spring from his late morning nap.

Every man in the squad is able to furnish information on army life. They have with them a Browning machine gun and are planning for a demonstration here, perhaps on the Seventeenth street lot.

The camp is in charge of Lieutenant Honner. Lieutenant Banker, who is with them has sold over $400,000 worth of Liberty bonds since returning from France.

Others in the camp, coming from various parts of the country, are: Sergeant William H. Taylor, Sergeant Charles J. McCaffrey, Sergeant Chester A. Main, Sergeant Harry Hasech, Sergeant Russell V. Olney, Sergeant Albert S. Lamb, Sergeant Cooper, Corporal Cecil Parrish, Corporal Lee R. Thompson, Corporal James Salisbury and bugler Angelo Brown.

Business Men's Association To Stage Membership Drive; To Improve Detours

The semi-monthly meeting of the Business Men's Association was held this noon at the Washington Hotel. Following an excellent luncheon a general discussion by all members present took place under the leadership of W. W. Anderson.

The principal matter taken up was of the half holiday on Thursday during the months of July and August. The majority of those present expressed themselves in favor of this movement. A committee consisting of Strauss, William Schwartz and George Ahrend was appointed to visit the retailers in an effort to make the Thursday half holiday sentiment unanimous.

For the past four or five years various stores in the city have observed this half holiday. If it is made universal, that fact will be advertised so that the trade may be acquainted with movement.

There were no special speakers; the meeting taking the form of a round-table discussion. On the subject of better detours on the West Side which was taken up with the commissioners, it was reported that they had notified the association that the matter was being taken up. A Dollar Day for next September was discussed and the committee in charge of trade extension was instructed to get busy and plan for such a day. Secretary W. S. Harris was also instructed to present a list of prospective members at the next meeting as the association is planning to inaugurate a drive for two hundred new members.

Commander Of NC-1 Tells About Crew's Experiences

HORTA, May 19.—Lieutenant Commander D. N. L. Dellinger, the commander of the NC-1, gave out the following statement today:

"The NC-1 was the last plane to take the air at Trepassey, doing so at 10:10 Friday (Greenwich time). We proceeded on the course, being guided by the smoke and searchlights from the destroyers and the star shells they sent up. After passing most of the station ships, we did not meet with any trouble until we got into the fog at 11:10 a. m. Saturday, when we were near station 18. After being in the fog for some time, we alighted on the water at 1:10 p. m. Saturday.

"We kept to our course until we struck the heavy fog when we lost our bearings. We deemed it advisable to head into the wind toward land to get our bearings before proceeding. We were then flying about 2,000 feet up. We dropped to fifty feet in order to sight water and found that the wind was in a different direction on the surface than the water than it was above and also that the fog was more dense at the lower altitude.

"We made a good landing on the sea which was rough and choppy with heavy swells. The strong wind continued until we were picked up."

"At 6 p. m. (Greenwich time), we sighted the masts of the Inca, on the way to Fagel and Ulisse above the horizon. We were unable to see the hull of the Inca and as she did not have wireless we were unable to communicate with her. We therefore started tacking toward her. About this time the Inca sighted us and lowered a boat which picked us up at 6:20 p. m. Our position when we were picked up was at 39 degrees, 58 minutes north; longitude 70 degrees, 15 minutes west. We tried to salvage the plane, but the low lines of the Inca broke and we were forced to give up the attempt. All of us were seasick, otherwise we did not suffer.

"We sent out S. O. S. calls after landing, but the radio sending was only 50 miles on the surface. While awaiting rescue, we intercepted messages, between destroyers. We last heard the radio of the NC-3 at 9:15 o'clock, Sunday morning.

"If the fog had not been so thick, we could have continued to Ponta Delgada. Our engines worked splendidly throughout. The average altitude of the flight was between 500 and 3,500 feet."

Front Wheel Is Smashed

William Morgan's Haynes touring car had a front wheel smashed when it collided with a telephone pole one mile this side of Lucasville this morning. Morgan lives in Kiskadee and was on his way home when the accident occurred.

This is a most attractive sport car of white paint and black top, with a brilliant green, but it would be very effective in red, yellow or purple. A green milan suit with checked ribbon band completes the outfit.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

The total Bible school attendance Sunday was 6230 several hundred lower than that of a week ago the last Sunday of the big campaign. Trinity was in the lead with over 500 in attendance. Following is Sunday's record:

CANOE OVERTURNS; GET DUCKING

Harold Hewitt and Fay Reinhardt, employees of the Times received a ducking in the Ohio river Sunday afternoon when their canoe overturned. The young men had made a successful trip up the Scioto and were in front of York Park on the return trip when the canoe overturned. They were only a short distance from shore and reached the bank in safety.

Troop Trains Go Through

Four troop trains passed through South Portsmouth Sunday. They contained 12 coaches each and they were filled with homeward bound soldiers.

Revival Meetings

The revival meeting being held at Morris Chapel on the West Side, conducted by Rev. F. C. Brown of this city are proving quite successful. Rev. Brown has aroused much interest by his enthusiastic sermons. Members of the church recently decided to organize for Sunday School. This plan was carried out at Sunday's meeting, electing Everett Pinedel Superintendent. Services will be held every evening this week beginning at 7:30.

Meetings of Martha, besides those, honor and obey, "look to his meals, wash his clothes, darn his socks, and sew on his buttons," there'd be fewer heavy marriages.

Sciotoville And Wheelersburg

The Baccalaureate sermon which was delivered last evening by Rev. Carroll Stewart to the graduates of the High School, in the M. E. church, was a beautiful and inspiring event in the lives of those who have successfully completed their work and will graduate on next Friday evening.

Decorated plants, ferns, roses and bouquets were arranged in an attractive manner in the auditorium and made a very pleasing picture.

Mrs. C. L. Marting, president of the piano, gracefully played. "At Excellence" while the graduates and the members of the High School faculty entered the church and took their places.

Rev. Charles Reinhard, pastor of the Christian church, was in charge of the devotional services, and the invocation was given by Rev. Freeman Chase, pastor of the Baptist church.

The choir of the three churches formed a large chorus and rendered several selections, and received much comment as to the beautiful manner in which they were given.

Miss Gertrude Schmidt sweetly sang "In My Father's House," with piano accompaniment by Miss Louise Evans.

Miss Frances Halstead and Eileen Williams, rendered a duet, "Heads of Peace," with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Winifred Bennett.

In the theme, "The Temptations of Jesus," Rev. Stewart presented to the class the follies of the undertaking of things impossible, which so many young people are tempted to do when beginning their life's work, and to follow the example of the Master when tempted in this life. His words of advice and counsel will no doubt many times cheer them, and help them to overcome the many difficulties which arise in their lives.

A large and appreciative audience filled the auditorium and the Sunday school rooms were also used to accommodate those present.

Mrs. Alma Voley and children spent Sunday with relatives at Slocum Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Allen entertained with a twelve o'clock dinner Sunday in honor of her brother, Wells Daniels, who recently returned from overseas. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Daniels and family, of Portsmouth, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Daniels and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cannare and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Allen and family, Mr. Dave Daniels, John Daniels and the honor guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Black and daughter, Helen, are visiting relatives in Richmann, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Odell and sons, Robert and Alvin and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Graham and sons, Howard and Wilbur, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Hanes, of Dogwood Ridge.

Miss Ella Tipton, of Chillicothe, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Tipton, of Broadway street.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith and son, Marvin, of Eastern avenue, spent Sunday with relatives in New Boston.

Mrs. Jeannette Forby returned home Friday from a visit with her daughter and family, Mrs. G. W. Brooks, of Odell, Ill.

Mrs. Chester Bowman had as dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. William Shump and daughter, Kathleen.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hanes and daughter Eva spent Sunday with relatives in Portsmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kinnaman and family of Long Meadow spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Voley of Slocum Station.

Mrs. M. Allard was shopping in Portsmouth today.

HAWKER REPORTED SEEN

hanger, but Captain Morgan was more seriously injured, his face bearing three deep cuts which required several stitches to close.

More Attempts Coming
A successful flight by Hawker will not mark the last of the trans-Atlantic attempts to be made from this port. Vice-Admiral Mark Kerr, before returning last night to Harbor City, where the giant Handley Page planes are being assembled, said that his expedition would make the trip in the interests of science, if denied the chance to be the first.

Captain A. A. Alcott, who, with Lieutenant A. W. Brown, compose the Anglo-American team, is to arrive here during the day with a Vimy bomber plane.

The radius of the single-engine bi-plane's direct wireless communication with shore was passed after the machine had been in the air two hours, but assistants here who held a watch party at the Mount Pearl airfield throughout the night, had hoped to receive messages by relay from ships at sea. It was the plan of Commander Grieve to land the airplane's course to follow the seasonal trans-Atlantic steamship lane.

However, the absence of reports was not a cause for anxiety by the aviator's friends, who explained that the chairs, chairman of the elections committee, according to a pre-arranged plan, formally challenged his right to be seated. Berger is appealing from a war time conviction of the espionage law.

Speaker Gillette directed Berger to stand aside when he appeared with his state delegation for the oath and refused to recognize him when he tried to speak as a matter of personal privilege.

The immediate work before the congress, the sixty-sixth of the American republic, its passage before July 1, of seven regular annual appropriation bills, which failed in the filibuster last March. After that will come consideration of the League of Nations and railroad, shipping, revenue, woman suffrage, prohibition, army and navy and much other legislation. Many investigations, particularly into war activities, also are expected.

REPUBLICANS IN CONTROL

The Republicans today, for the first time since 1911, had majorities in both branches of congress as a result of the congressional elections last November.

In the house they have a margin of two score votes, but in the senate their majority is only two.

With President Wilson a Democrat, the changes in political complexion of congress presented a situation similar to that during the last two years of former President Taft's administration, when the house was a Democratic body, and the senate a Republican one.

The senate, assembling today had 19 Republicans and 47 Democrats. The new house will have 275 Republicans, 180 Democrats, two Independents, one Prohibitionist, one Socialist and four unaffiliated. The house division gives the Republicans a majority of 11 over the Democrats and 10 over all combined opposition.

Republican action promises, however, to be frustrated by President Wilson's veto power, as a two-thirds vote is necessary to override a veto.

Cooperation between administration officials and Republicans is expected on unimportant matters.

MORE PRECEDENTS

Assembly of the new congress was marked by the establishment of new precedents. It was the first time that congress had convened with a president in Europe and his opening message came from foreign soil. The president's message was not to be sent to congress until tomorrow, however, and it probably will make no reference to the peace treaty, as Mr. Wilson expects to appear personally to present the treaty next month. The president's absence today disrupted the time-honored custom of appointing congressional committees to call at the White House for notification of the executive.

WILL HAVE LONG RUN

The session beginning today was expected to run virtually to the time for the regular December session, which will precede the 1920 national conventions and presidential campaign.

Important house committees were to be chosen today, but the senate Republicans were not ready with their committee assignments because of the Progressives' fight against the election of Senators Penrose, of Pennsylvania, and Warren, of Wyoming, as chairman of the finance and appropriations committee, respectively.

Senate leaders arranged to adjourn today until Thursday to give time for the Republicans to work on committee assignments.

The introduction of new bills and resolutions incident to a new session today in the house, but introduction of senate measures went over.

NO ACTION BEFORE JULY

Final action by the senate on the peace treaty and the covenant of the League of Nations before July 1 is not generally expected, although much discussion measurably is planned.

One of the first questions scheduled for disposition is the woman suffrage amendment, proposing a constitutional amendment. The two-thirds vote necessary for its adoption is regarded generally as certain in the house and reasonably assured in the senate. Prohibition legislation for enforcement of war-time and the permanent constitutional measures, is expected to receive early attention. Repeal of the war-time measures, as well as the constitutional amendment, also are to be urged.

SOCIETY

Samuel Selby, prominent farmer of Harrellville, was in the city today and was kept busy receiving the congratulations of his many friends on his recent marriage. Mr. Selby was united in marriage Sunday, April 27, to Mrs. Ada Selby, of Ironton, the marriage taking place at the home of her brother, Andrew Sullivan, in Deer Park, Cincinnati. Mrs. Selby was at the home of relatives in Terre Haute, Ind., for several weeks before her marriage. Her maiden name was Rogers. They are now at home on the Selby farm at Havrehill.

Mrs. William H. McCurdy's class of Trinity Sunday school will meet at her home in Wheelersburg Tuesday afternoon. The members are requested to take the 1 o'clock trolley at New Boston.

PORTSMOUTH MUNICIPAL COURT BILL BECOMES A LAW WITHOUT FORMAL APPROVAL BY COX

MARSHAL DAVIS EXPLAINS POSITION

New Boston, O., May 18, 1919.

In reply to an article in your paper of May 18, will say that I am, and always have been opposed to street fares, but my hands being tied I could not do otherwise than allow them to operate.

I am well aware that many of them are a "skin game" from start to finish, and if I had my say the sheriff of Scioto county would not have had occasion to take any action in connection with these fares.

This fair was paying into the treasury of the village of New Boston the sum of $25.00 per day, which should have been, as under former administration, the sum of $30.00 per day, and I think if this amount had been charged our village would not have been corrupted by such shows.

Has Copy of Old Paper

Colonel John M. Higgins, Seventh street, is in possession of an edition of the Ohio State Journal published in Columbus in 1851. The paper, aside from the viewpoint of its age is unique in its style and unusual in that it deals with the old fashioned happenings of that time. Merceus were for sale, advertisements speak of embroidered party dresses selling at from $15 to $20. There was an item commenting upon the issue of Charles' "new" Essays. A slant having the modern trend line of "Soldiers' Attention" was followed by the notice of an act passed by Congress which gave bounty land to the officers and well printed and of the greatest interest to private, or their heirs, of the 1812 lay in the advertisements.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY MARKS DEDICATION OF OTWAY CHURCH; ARCHBISHOP PRESENT

A pretty little village cugged with hills, which is Otway, in the white stuccoed church, which is the Otway church. The dedication ceremony was held Sunday at which the Rev. Archbishop Henry Moeller, of Cincinnati, was the chief dignitary of the church present.

There has never been such a gathering for religious service, it was estimated by the oldest citizens if they had ever been the site of so many automobiles, and the church was crowded with people from the city and Portsmouth, who thronged the church and grouped about it.

The service of dedication and benediction was followed by a luncheon at the Otway Hotel and the Rev. Archbishop Moeller and the Rev. Father H. J. Taske, who were standing at the altar, began the dedication. The Archbishop blessed the church, and the church was dedicated to the service.

A procession which followed them to the church was of much interest. It included the 18 members who were to be confirmed at the close of the dedication service.

The Catedral choir of St. Mary's church had charge of the music and sang the beautiful St. Michael's Mass, by M. Loesch. The offertory music was sung by a trio the selection being "Ave Maria Stella," by A. H. Rosewig. The music of the choir was beautifully rendered and much appreciated.

The Archbishop spoke to the people of Otway with much praise of their devotion which made possible the erection of "Our Lady of Lourdes." He has a splendid delivery and his sermon to the people was very impressive. He commented upon the different phases of their religion of the confessional which he spoke of as a sense of the return of the prodigal son to his Father's House of the communion, the celestial banquet, of the altar as the place of sacrifice carried out in the mass; and of the confirmation as the time for receiving the Holy Ghost. But the sermon of the Archbishop was about the "Attitude of the World Toward the Church," and he spoke of the continuation of the persecution of the church which began with the persecution of Christ, saying that the persecution which began in the days of the apostles and extended through three centuries is now going on in a greater or lesser degree.

"The church bears many a deep scar, each scar shining as a gem in her history," said Archbishop Moeller in the course of his address. He repudiated any accusations of lack of patriotism in Catholics, citing their bravery in the past wars and in the world war which has just finished.

The Archbishop spoke of the great prize due Father Richter, the former pastor at Otway, for his work in procuring the site and building of the church then being dedicated.

The confirmation mass followed, the Archbishop talking to the children, before confirming them, in a most fatherly way, urging them to be soldiers in the faith from that day forth, armed with the spirit of the Holy Ghost.

Father T. A. Goebel and Father J. E. McGuirk, assisted the Archbishop and Father H. J. Taske, pastor at Otway.

The church is a brick building with a small bell tower above the door on the left hand side of the building. The front window of the church gives rise to the name the church bears, as the story of "Our Lady of Lourdes" is pictured in the beautiful stained glass window by the door of the church. The story it tells is that of a peasant girl of France who kneeling one day in a grotto to say her rosary looking up to see the Virgin Mary stand before her. Tradition says that the Virgin appeared to the maiden a number of times and during one of the visitations a spring of water gushed forth from the grotto which stream had healing properties. A church was later built above the grotto and pilgrimages are still made to its altar.

The altar of the church at Otway has an interesting history as it was taken from the oldest church in the diocese, the St. Thomas church in Cincinnati.

The statues of the Christ and the Virgin Mary were admirable works of art.

Edgemonts Made Crackers Popular

Folks use more crackers now than they used to, and we cannot blame them. The old-fashioned cracker wasn't much to rave about.

A few years ago The Green & Green Co., made a lighter, flakier, crispier, more palatable cracker—and called it Edgemont.

It met with instant approval. Since then Edgemonts have been imitated—but you can easily identify them by the name that is baked in every cracker.

Tomorrow when you give your grocery order don't say crackers—say "Edgemonts." Your grocer will gladly get them for you because he too knows that you will like them better.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, work, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—I am to be the best man at a wedding soon and would like to know what my duties will be.

A BACHELOR.

At a small wedding the best man has much to do except act as a witness. At a church wedding he walks up the aisle with the bridesmaid or enters with the groom. If there is no ring bearer he carries the ring in his waist coat pocket and gives it to the groom at the proper time. The best man also assists the groom in arranging all the little details connected with the ceremony. The groom may arrange with the best man to pay the minister and organist for their services. The bride's party usually practices the ceremony the day before so they will not get "fussed" during the ceremony.

Miss Dolly Wise—Can you please tell me if Eugene Sander, the strong man, is still living? If so where would I better reach him. Is he an American?

SPORT.

I don't know Eugene. Perhaps some reader will tell us all about him.

Dear Dolly—To settle an argument, is white mourning the same as black?

IN DOUBT.

All white is considered mourning.

LEMON JUICE FOR FRECKLES

Girls! Make beauty lotion for a few cents—Try it!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons in a bottle containing three ounces of prehard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost. Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this gently, fragrant lotion, into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Feel it is harmless and never irritates.

but not deep mourning. This question was asked and answered in Saturday's Times.

Dear Dolly—I would like to ask for some information. What is the King of England's last name? You know Queen Victoria married a German Prince of Saxony.

KATHARINE.

King George's real name is or was George Winton, but it was changed during the war to George Windsor. The change was made to get away from the German name of Winton.

Franklin Fox—Dear Dolly—is a girl of age at eighteen in Ohio?

BLUE EYES.

Yes. Dear Miss Wise—I'm young but I'm not deep mourning. This question was asked and answered in Saturday's Times.

It is not right. They should not shoot birds at any time. You can lay whiskey and beer away for your own use before the saloons close.

Dear Miss Wise—I am writing you for some information as you are the only one I can think of that would know anything about same. What is the railroad fare from here to Detroit and what time would I pass over in going?

A READER.

Dear Dolly—What does the word "cynical" mean? A READER. Perhaps you mean cynical, which is a French word, meaning in due order.

Dear Miss Wise—Will you please help me find a cheap typewriter, or to pay on time on a good one. I have a girl friend who would love to work out. She would love to work at a wrapping counter at a dry-goods store or be a telephone operator, but not in a shoe factory.

I can't help you when I don't know who you are or where you live. However, if you will insert a small ad on the classified page of this paper you will get what you want.

MISS ROSY CHEERS.

THIS WEEK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me from working most of the time. I said if I could not sleep that I could not get well. I heard somewhere about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I bought a bottle. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHINE, 2242 North Taylor St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthine.

FARMS FOR EX-VETERANS

With the support of both parties pledged, Secretary Lane's great plan to provide farms for returned soldiers and sailors in every state in the union bids fair to be very speedily enacted into law. Instead of granting an initial appropriation of $100,000,000, as originally proposed, congress now seems likely to appropriate five times that sum and to enlarge the whole program.

The plan as it will be enacted into law will enable Uncle Sam to say to all returned soldiers and sailors: "As a reward for your heroic services in defense of your country, America offers you a farm if you will help in its making and pay for it out of what you make out of it."

The plan in its general outlines is well known. Briefly, fertile, but uncultivated lands in every state will be cleared or drained or irrigated as the need may be, and made ready for occupancy at government expense, ex-soldiers and sailors being employed at good wages to put them in shape. Then these lands will be thrown open for settlement by the returned fighter, who will be given forty years in which to pay for them.

The plan has some rather novel but very excellent features, which Secretary Lane recently outlined as follows:

The plan involves "the new farm idea" in that there will be built what are known as community settlements each containing a number of farm homes, so that the men will have near neighbors, good roads over which to bring their produce to town, and a market for the sale of the product within a short distance of the farm home. Efforts will be made to overcome the handicaps of the farm life that are driving the people to the cities, the distance between farm houses, the remoteness from the postoffice and the newspaper, the desire for better school facilities for the children. Under the new way there will be the farm village, the settlement of farmers around a center which is their home, in which can be most of the advantages of the city.

After these service men have built the dams and canals or cleared the land, after they have helped to erect houses and barns, laid out town sites, built creameries, canneries, warehouses and schools, after they have in fact reclaimed the land, the government intends to allow each man to pick out one of these farms.

The plan provides that these farms and homes shall be paid for in small payments over a long term of years. It is expected that the men will be able to pay the first small payment out of the wages received from the government in helping to build these settlements. The balance can be paid from the proceeds from the sale of crops.

More than 40,000 returned soldiers and sailors have already filed applications for farms pending necessary legislation, and the number is expected to increase ten-fold as soon as congress has made the initial appropriation. Without doubt the carrying through of this tremendous reclamation project will have a most profound effect upon the social structure of the nation. Not only the ex-fighting men and their families, but the country at large will benefit greatly and permanently.

THE WISHING PLANE

Ladydear was wondering why Jane held Booh so tight with one arm and was clinging to her with the other. She found out a minute later when Jane said:

"Oh, Jack, I wonder if these are cannibals like those people Uncle George told us about."

"Bless your heart," said Dr. Cheer. "They wouldn't hurt any of us."

So the journey through the village began. Jane and Ladydear were interested in the tiny huts in the cradles made of bamboo and leaves and hung from the eaves of the houses. In some of the houses other children kept these cradles swinging by pushing them every now and then. In one house the mother was singing what

Jane thought was an awfully strange song to the baby, but when Dr. Cheer told her what the song meant in English she found out that it was just as pretty a cradle song as those mothers had sung to her Jack.

Jack noticed how even the boys had drawings all over their bodies. Queer animals and knives and things were painted on them. Dr. Cheer told them how this was part of a boy's dress, just like a waist or stockings were part of a girl's dress.

While Ladydear and Jane were watching the women at their work two of the little brown boys took Jack with them. Booh decided Jane was in safe hands so he trotted along with Jack. Booh almost came to grief a few minutes later, when two savage dogs jumped out of the bushes at the side of the road and started after him. Of course you couldn't blame the dogs for they had never seen a little white dog like Booh, and were just as curious about him as their masters were about Jack. Jack grabbed Booh and the little brown boys grabbed their dogs, and then sent them away.

Jack's little friends started him by the wonderful way they jumped fences and swung about in the low branches of the trees along the side of the road. Jack wondered how they could do it, until later Captain Brere told him that these little folks did not have marbles and baseball and other games to play, and so they made up their own games, using the trees and other things in their sport.

The island boys took Jack down to the beach. The waves were coming in pretty high. Jack thought, but some of his new friends jumped into the water and swam about as though the ocean was just as calm as could be. Jack thought he never had seen such wonderful boys. On the beach were some long narrow boats which Jack found were made from the bark of trees. The boys pushed one of these into the water and asked Jack to climb in. Jack wouldn't admit it, but he was a little afraid. He got in, taking Booh with him.

The boys showed what good paddlers they were by riding him safely a long way out from the beach and back again. The waves made Booh angry by splashing over the top of the boat, so he stood up in the front of the boat and barked at them. An extra big one came along and knocked Booh right into the ocean. The island boys didn't know that even though he was little he could swim like any other dog, so one of them jumped in after him. You should have seen Booh when they lifted him back into the boat. Of all the wet little dogs you ever saw in all your life, he was the wettest. He looked for all the world like a great big ball of cotton, soaked through and through, and the expression on his face said clearly that he was thoroughly disgusted with everything on the island, for it seemed that everything he had done since coming to the island had caused him trouble.

A few minutes later Jack and the boys were back on the beach.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY

COMMENTARY

NEW YORK, May 18.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: C. Sutherland came early with H. Roth, having walked from Houston street and Sir Herb was taken to chewing tobacco, a quaint custom of the navy. To the Gray Eagle for breakfast and had two beakers of fresh milk and eggs newly laid and Irving Berlin came with talk of his new music hall play.

The town talks that young Theodore son of Lord Theodore, lately deceased, has become a mighty erator and is much like his father in manner and action. Through the town by train with my wife, poor wretch, and at Union Square we stopped and took coach to Mistress Beckler's for five bob and had a Syrian dish, very sweetish.

In casting my accounts I found that I have drawn too heavily of my money supply and I am resolved to be a saver and to have an estate yet I cannot resist luring my money for worthless things. Jay House, the Tupeka pumpkiner, is to take up his campaign here, having a high post to hear on one of the big public journals.

With A. Roche, the scrivener, to Tokeneke in Connecticut to see his new summer house, sitting high on a rock, and a brave venture and near by was Mistress Astor's cottage at the ocean's edge, a mighty noble place. And my dog swam out until I was frightened after a cork ball and a man in a boat had to get him.

Home in a buzzing buggy at great speed and to the Illustrators' show, an amusing concert, in especial the two white wings Horatio and Percival who talked of biology and mid Victorianism while they swept the streets yet I was too tired to enjoy it as I should. So home and to bed.

Returning soldiers have been bombarding the New York Herald with queries about "Old Philadelphia Lady" long a mystery to the readers of the Paris edition of the Herald. There is no explanation except that it was one of the eccentric whims of the James Gordon Bennett. The query first appeared December 24, 1899 and read:

To the Editor of the Herald—I am anxious to find out the way to figure

WHO'S WHO

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

GEN. T. COLEMAN DU PONT With the appointment recently of Gen. T. Coleman du Pont as deputy police commissioner of New York City, the police force of the American metropolis jumped from the millions of dollars to something more than a billionnaire. For General du Pont's wealth, piled atop the hundreds of millions represented in four other men on the force, Allan A. Ryan, Dr. John A. Harries, Rodman W. A. Baker and Edmund A. Guggenheim, makes a pyramid of staggering proportions.

T. COLEMAN DU PONT General du Pont is undoubtedly one of the richest men in the country. When he retired from E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., of which he was president, after making millions in the powder business, he built the Equitable Building, one of the largest office buildings in the world, and purchased from J. P. Morgan a majority of the capital stock of the Equitable Life Insurance Society.

A little later, after recovering from an operation, he formed a coal company at capitalization of $6,000,000, and in February, 1913, paid $3,000,000 for the Waldorf-Astoria. He is head of the Firestone Square Holding company, which owns one of the largest New York hotels. Another large hotel in Wilmington, Del., is owned by the commissioner, and he is director of the Empire Trust Company, the National Surety Company and a score of other banks and corporations in the East.

General du Pont is fifty-six years old. He was born in Louisville, Ky., a son of Ferdinand du Pont and Ellen S. Coleman. His family for generations has been identified with the manufacture of powder and explosives. The woman was formerly a waitress who married a rich man now in France. The hotel permits dogs in the dining room as long as they are not boisterous. The other day the dog snarled and snipped at passersby. The head waiter asked that he be removed. The young lady flounced out and got the owner of the hotel and brought him in. This is what happened. The hotel had a new head waiter the next day.

I am a bold fellow
As ever was seen,
With my shield of yellow,
In the grass green.

You may uproot me
From field and from lane,
Trample me, call me—

Wherever I dwell;
Give me an inch, sir,
I'll soon take an ell.

Drive me from garden
In anger and pride,
I'll thrive and harden
By the roadside.

Dinner Stories
A captured German major was assigned to an American soldier to be taken to the prison camp. Upon reaching his destination the major made a close observation and refused to enter, indignantly remonstrating that he would not associate with privates. In an instant the Yankee ripped off the major's cap and replied, "You're busted now; get in there!"

Booth Turkington was strolling around an artistic Red Cross fair when two pretty "dappers" of sixteen or so came up and asked him for his autograph.

"I haven't got a fountain pen," he said, much flattered. "Will pencil do?"

"Yes," said the old "dapper," and he took out a pencil and signed his name in the notebook bound book that she had presented.

"The 'dapper' studied the signature with a frown. Then she looked up and said:

"Aren't you Robert W. Chambers?"

"No," he said. "I'm Booth Turkington."

The "dapper" turned to her friend with a shrug of disgust.

"Lead me your cubber, May," she said, according to Mr. Turkington himself.

Johnny was at the grocery store "I hear you have a little sister at your house," said the grocer.

"Yes, sir," said Johnny.

"Do you like that?" was queried. "I wish it was a boy," said Johnny. "I could play marbles with him and have fun."

"Well," said the storekeeper, "who don't you exchange your little sister for a boy?"

Johnny reflected for a minute, like he said, rather sorrowfully: "We can't move it's too late. We've used her four weeks."

An amateur author who had submitted a story to a magazine, after waiting several weeks without hearing from the editor concerning it, finally sent him a note requesting an early decision, as she stated "she had other irons in the fire."

A frightened little boy in a sailor suit sat behind the counter of a grocery store, looking at a group of men who were talking to him.

"You're a very polite little fellow," the lady mother said. "I'm sure you'll be a great help to the store when you grow up."

The little boy's mother was a very kind woman, and she was very proud of her little boy.

What is your father's trade, my little man? Do you repair motor cars?

No, ma'am. I'm a undertaker, was the little fellow's response.

HAWKER'S AIRPLANE REPORTED SIGHTED OFF IRISH COAST

LONDON, May 19.—The Sopwith Airplane Company have received a report that Hawker was 500 miles off the Irish coast at 3 p. m.

LONDON, May 19.—Harry G. Hawker, in his airplane has been sighted off Ireland, according to an official report received by the American navy here.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 19.—In the absence of any word from Harry G. Hawker, and Commander Mackenzie Greave, who started on their death-defying flight to reach the Irish coast yesterday, navigators and aviators here early today sought the weather reports received from vessels in mid-ocean to learn under what conditions this daring Britisher was making his nonstop dash in an attempt to beat the Yankee air sailors. Every indication pointed to favorable observation conditions, with high visibility from a clear sky and a full moon only four days old.

Atmospheric conditions improved during the night, according to reports received here. For the first 200 miles journeying ahead winds prevailed, but for the next thousand miles beyond a light west wind obtained. Except for a report of unimportant low pressure over Ireland, all messages received indicated generally improving weather conditions.

It was calculated by navigators here that Hawker and Greave would meet the sun about 12:30 o'clock this morning approximately at 21 degrees west longitude. This was assuming that the flyers would maintain a speed averaging 100 miles an hour. Hawker expected to average 106 miles an hour. The title

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The "reconstruction congress," assembled in extraordinary session at noon today, under the call issued by President Wilson from Paris, May 7, marks the return to power of the Republicans and loss by the Democrats of control over the national legislative body. Organization of both senate and house by the new majority was today's principal business.

The immediate work before the congress, the sixty-sixth of the American republic, its passage before July 1, of seven regular annual appropriation bills, which failed in the filibuster last March. After that will come consideration of the peace treaty and consent of the League of Nations, and railroad, shipping, revenue, woman suffrage, prohibition, army and navy and much other legislation.

Many investigations, particularly those activities, also are expected.

REPUBLICANS IN CONTROL
The Republicans today, for the first time since 1914, had majorities in both branches of congress as a result of the congressional elections last November.

In the house they have a margin of two score votes, but in the senate their majority is only two.

With President Wilson, a Democrat, the change in political complexion of congress presented a situation similar to that during the last two years of former President Taft's administration when there was a Democratic house, and to President Cleveland's administration, in which there was a Republican congress.

The senate assembling today had 49 Republicans and 17 Democrats. The new house roll lists 278 Republicans, 189 Democrats, two Independents, one Prohibitionist, one Socialist and four vacancies, all in Democratic districts—a total of 475. The house division gives the Republicans a majority of 10 over the Democrats and 39 over all combined opposition.

Republican action promises, however, to be restricted by President Wilson's veto power as a two-thirds vote is necessary to override a veto. Cooperation between administration officials and Republicans is expected on uncontentious matters.

MORE PRECEDENTS
Assembly of the new congress was marked by the establishment of more precedents. It was the first time that congress had convened with a president in Europe and his opening message read from a foreign soil. The president's message was not to be sent to congress until tomorrow, however, and it probably will make no reference to the peace treaty, as Mr. Wilson expects to appear personally to present the treaty next month. The Sopwith bi-plane carried sufficient fuel for a 22 hour flight under ordinary conditions and enough for 24 hours if very favorable weather is found.

Hawker's machine carried a wireless transmitter capable of a 250 mile radius and it was estimated that this distance was covered during the first two hours. After that the flyers were isolated except that their calls might be relayed by passing ships.

Another Entry Wrecked
Captain Frederick P. Rayburn, whose attempt to join Hawker in his dash for non-stop honors and make a race of it, met with accident, inquired several times during the night for news of his rival and expressed the hope that Hawker and Greave would attain their objective. Captain Rayburn pilot of the Martinsyde machine and his navigator, Captain C. M. F. Morgan, sustained painful injuries when their plane was wrecked yesterday in attempting to take the air in answer to Hawker's challenge to join in the flight. Captain Rayburn was able to drive his automobile away from his hangar, but Captain Morgan was more seriously injured, his face bearing three deep cuts which required several stitches to close.

More Attempts Coming
A successful flight by Hawker will not mark the last of the transatlantic attempts to be made from this port.

Vice-Admiral Mark Kerr, before returning last night to Harbor Grace, where the giant Humberly Pidge planes are being assembled, said that his expedition would make the trip in the interests of science if denied the chance to be the first.

Captain A. A. Alcott, who, with Lieutenant A. W. Brown, composed the Anglo-American team, is to arrive here during the day with a Vimy bomber plane.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Opening of the special session of congress was made the occasion of another British demonstration in stocks at the outset of today's trading. Stocks reflected this factor more than any other division, low grade as well as standard issues, making further advances of 1 to 3 1/2 points in the first half hour. Shipings also materially enhanced last week's gains, especially Marine common, American International and Pacific Mail which rose 1 to 2 points. Numerous equipments and specialties were at levels of the year and steel, oils and metals also recorded moderate advances.

The demonstration was held in the Lustgarten and was attended by a great crowd. President Ebert described the peace terms as "the product of the enemy's 'revengeful hysteria,'" and added:

FARMS FOR EX-VETERANS

WITH the support of both parties pledged, Secretary Lane's great plan to provide farms for returned soldiers and sailors in every state in the union bids fair to be very speedily enacted into law. Instead of granting an initial appropriation of $100,000,000, as originally proposed, congress now seems likely to appropriate five times that sum and to enlarge the whole program.

The plan as it will be enacted into law will enable Uncle Sam to say to all returned soldiers and sailors: "As a reward for your heroic services in defense of your country, America offers you a farm if you will help in its making and pay for it out of what you take out of it."

The plan in its general outlines is well known. Briefly, fertile, but uncultivated lands in every state will be cleared or drained or irrigated as the need may be, and made ready for occupancy at government expense, ex-soldiers and sailors being employed at good wages to put them in shape. Then these lands will be thrown open for settlement by the returned fighter, who will be given forty years in which to pay for them.

The plan has some rather novel but very excellent features, which Secretary Lane recently outlined as follows:

The plan involves "the new farm idea" in that there will be built what are known as community settlements each containing a number of farm houses, so that the men will have near neighbors, good roads over which to bring their produce to town, and a market for the sale of the product within a short distance of the farm home. Efforts will be made to overcome the handicaps of the farm life that are driving the people to the cities, the distance between farm houses, the remoteness from the postoffice and the newspaper, the desire for better school facilities for the children. Under the new way there will be the farm village, the settlement of farmers around a center which is their home, in which can be most of the advantages of the city.

After these service men have built the dunes and canals or cleared the land; after they have helped to erect houses and barns, laid out town sites, built creameries, canneries, warehouses and schools, after they have in fact reclaimed the land, the government intends to allow each man to pick out one of these farms.

The plan provides that these farms and homes shall be paid for in small payments over a long term of years. It is expected that the men will be able to pay the first small payment out of the wages received from the government in helping to build these settlements. The balance can be paid from the proceeds from the sale of crops.

More than 40,000 returned soldiers and sailors have already filed applications for farms pending necessary legislation, and the number is expected to increase ten-fold as soon as congress has made the initial appropriation. Without doubt the carrying through of this tremendous reclamation project will have a most profound effect upon the social structure of the nation. Not only the ex-fighting men and their families, but the country at large will benefit greatly and permanently.

SURPLUS VS. SURPLUS

The Local Employment Bureau is of the nation's wealth, create happiness and the following statement business and insure contentment.

A surplus of unemployed labor is not a bad thing for any community. It is a reflection of uncertainty and instability.

A surplus of money is a good thing for everybody. It denotes courage, stability and right living.

There is so much to be accomplished by Americans in the next ten years everybody should be busy at the task, or it won't be completed.

Big works conceived and in many instances started before we entered the war, should be taken up at once and rushed to completion. New enterprises should be undertaken. What after all, is money good for, if not to provide comforts and conveniences for humanity.

The surplus of unemployed, a menace to every community, reduced by employment, will add to the surplus.

THE WISHING PLANE

Ladydear was wondering why Jane held both so tight with one arm and was clinging to her with the other. She found out a minute later when Jane said: "Oh, Jack, I wonder if these are cannibals like those people Uncle George told us about."

"Mess your heart, no," said Dr. Cherr. "They wouldn't hurt any of us."

So the journey through the village began. Jane and Ladydear were interested in the tiny babies in cradles made of bamboo and leaves and hung from the ceilings of the houses. In some of the houses other children kept these cradles swinging by pushing them every now and then. In one house the mother was singing what

Jane thought was an awfully strange song to the baby, but when Dr. Cherr told her what the song meant in English she found out that it was just as pretty a lullaby as those mother had sung to her and Jack.

Jack noticed how even the boys had drawings all over their bodies. Queer animals and knives and things were painted on them. Dr. Cherr told them how this was part of a boy's dress, just like a waist or stockings were part of Jack's dress.

While Ladydear and Jane were watching the women in their work two of the little brown boys took Jack by the hand. They led him to a safe place where they had some food. Jack almost came to grief a few minutes later, when two savage dogs jumped out of the bushes at the side of the road and started after him. Of course you couldn't blame the dogs for they had never seen a little white dog like Jack, and were just as excited about him as their masters were.

Jack's little friends started him by the wonderful way they jumped. They and swung about in the low branches of the trees along the side of the road. Jack wondered how they could do it, until later Captain Bave told him that these little folks did not have muscles and bones and other things to play, and so they made up their own games, using the trees and other things in their sport.

The island boys took Jack down to the beach. The waves were coming in pretty big. Jack thought, but some of his new friends jumped into the water and swam about as though the ocean was just as calm as could be. Jack thought he never had seen such wonderful boys. On the beach were some long narrow boats which Jack found were made from the bark of trees. The boys pushed one of these into the water and asked Jack to climb in. Jack wouldn't admit it, but he was a little afraid. He got in taking both with him.

The boys showed what good paddlers they were by riding like a cork a long way out from the beach and back again. The waves made both boys splash up to the top of the boat, so they stood up in the front of the boat and barked at them. An extra one came along and looked back right into the ocean. The island boys didn't know that even though he was little he could swim like any other dog, so one of them jumped in after him. You should have seen Jack when they lifted him back into the boat. Of all the wet little dogs you ever saw in all your life, he was the wettest. He looked for all the world like a great big ball of cotton, soaked through and through, and the expression on his face said clearly that he was thoroughly disgusted with everything in the island, for it seemed that everything he had done since coming to the island had caused him trouble.

A few minutes later Jack and the boys were back on the beach.

O-O-MINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 19.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: C. Sutherland came early with H. To the Gray Eagle for breakfast and had two beakers of fresh milk and eggs newly laid and Irving Berlin came with talk of his new musical play.

The town talks that young Theodore son of Lord Theodore, lately deceased, has become a mighty crater, and is much like his father in manner and action. Through the town by train with my wife, poor wretch, and at Union Square we stopped and took coach to Miss Beckley's for five bob and had a Syrian dish, very sweetish.

In casting my accounts I found that I have drawn too heavily of my money supply and I am resolved to be a saver and to have an estate yet I cannot resist laying out money for worthless things. T. C. DU PONT

General du Pont is undoubtedly one of the richest men in the country. When he retired from E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., of which he was president, after making millions in the powder business, he built the Equitable building, one of the largest office buildings in the world, and purchased from J. P. Morgan a majority of the capital stock of the Equitable Life Insurance Society.

A little later, after recovering from an operation, he formed a coal company at capitalization of $6,000,000, and in February, 1912, paid $3,000,000 for the Waldorf-Astoria. He is head of the Greasy Square Holding company, which owns one of the largest New York hotels. Another large hotel in Wilmington, Del., is owned by the du Ponts, and he is director of the Empire Trust Company, the National Surety Company and a score of other banks and corporations in the East.

General du Pont is fifty-six years old. He was born in Louisville, Ky., a son of Bismarck du Pont and Ellen S. Coleman. His family for generations has been identified with the manufacture of powder and explosives. He studied at Citrus University, Ohio, later at the Chaucer School in Boston, and was graduated an engineer from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Then he entered the steel business.

In 1890 he married Alice du Pont of Wilmington, a distant cousin. They have five children. In politics the new du Ponts are a Republican. He was chairman of the Republican state committee of Delaware in 1904, and was a member of the Republican national committee. In 1908 he was chairman of the speakers' bureau of the national committee. The boom for him as candidate for the Republican nomination for president was short-lived.

The woman was formerly an actress who married a rich man now in France. The hotel perverts dogs in the dining room as long as they are not bothersome. The other day the dog snarled and snipped at passersby. The hotel waiter asked that he be removed. The young lady flung out and got the owner of the hotel and brought him in. This is what happened. The hotel had a new head waiter the next day.

Dinner Stories

A captured German major was assigned to an American soldier to be taken to the prison camp. Upon reaching his destination, the major made a close observation and refused to enter. Indignantly re-emphasizing that he would not associate with prisoners. In an instant the Yank ripped off the major's epaulettes, and replied, "You're busted now; get in there!"

Booth Turkington was strolling around an artistic Red Cross fair when two pretty "flappers" of sixteen or so came up and asked him for his autograph.

"I haven't got a fountain pen," he said, much flattered. "Will pencil do?"

"Yes," said the old "flapper," and he took out a pencil and signed his name in the Morocco-bound book that she had presented.

The "flapper" studied the signature with a frown. Then she looked up and said:

"Aren't you Robert W. Chambers?"

"No," he said. "I'm Booth Turkington."

The "flapper" turned to her friend with a string of oaths.

"Lead me your rubber, May," she said, according to Mr. Turkington himself.

Amos J. Cummings and Ernest J. Lohr were once in a pilot boat during a great storm. The former lay on a bunk, intently reading. The boat gave a fearful lurch and he fell overboard. It seemed that she must turn completely over.

"This is awful, Amos!" said Lohr, roiling. "I'm going to put on a life preserver, for the boat can't stand it many minutes longer."

"Oh, keep quiet and let me read, Mickey," said Cummings, never lifting his eyes. "The men on this boat draw a regular salary to keep her afloat."

A bright-eyed little boy in a sailor suit saluted the occupants of a passing motor car so quaintly that they stopped to give him a nickel.

"You're a very polite little fellow," the lady motorist said. "Do you salute all the strangers who pass in the same way?"

"No, no, ma'am, only motorists," the boy stammered, fidgeting his collar nervously. "Father says I have to be polite to them, because motor cars bring him trade."

The lady seemed disappointed.

"What is your father's trade, my little man? Does he repair motor cars?"

"No, ma'am, he's an undertaker," was the little fellow's response.

Johnny was at the grocery store. "I hear you have a little sister at your house," said the grocer. "Yes, sir," said Johnny. "Do you like that?" was queried. "I wish it was a boy," said Johnny, "so I could play marbles with him, and have ball."

"Well," said the storekeeper, "why don't you exchange your little sister for a boy?"

Johnny reflected for a minute, then he said, rather sorrowfully:

"We can't now; it's too late. We've used her four weeks."

An amateur author who had submitted a story to a magazine, after waiting several weeks without hearing from the editor concerning it, finally sent him a note requesting an early decision, as she stated "she had other lions in the fire."

Shortly after came the editor's reply: "Dear Madam—I have read your story, and I should advise you to put it with the other lions."

Naturally "Where was it you said you called him the teeth of the gate?"

"I think it was somewhere about the mouth of the river."

Effective "There was a girl in our town, Who lived a steady beau; He stayed too late one evening— She could not make his gear. She tried but could not start him. Her pa was not so stern; He did not find it difficult—"

Case Is Continued

Park Rotass, a barber employed at Luck's shop on Galitz street, was before Mayor Kays this morning to answer a charge of threatening to assault Chris Malavazos during an altercation at the Manhattan restaurant Saturday night, but as the prosecuting witness failed to show up, the case was continued for hearing until later.

In Columbus, Louis Avarez of Fifth street is visiting friends in Columbus.

We wonder what the old fashioned mayor that used to order the copy house to paste dates over the eyes on the show bills would think of the underwear ads and 'selamita' pictures in the modern newspaper. It must be exasperatingly to be stylish and poor.

Floater Found At Haverhill

A floater, the body of a man about thirty-five years of age was found in the Ohio river at Haverhill Sunday by F. H. Ault, who operates the ferry between Haverhill and Greensburg.

The body was within 100 feet of the Ohio shore when Mr. Ault discovered it. He was crossing on the ferry when he noticed the body floating downstream.

Mr. Ault had the body towed to the Kentucky shore and called Dr. A. S. Brady of Greensburg to hold an inquest. The body appeared to have been in the water about ten days. The man was wearing a blue shirt, blue trousers and a blue working cap. A badly discolored place on the head looked as though the hair was coming out or that the head had been badly bruised.

POLICE NEWS

Mrs. Beatrice West, colored woman from Davis station, was convicted in police court this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct, and Mayor Kaps fined her $10 and costs, and dismissed a similar charge against Mrs. Clara Johnson, also colored. The two women were arrested Saturday following a row which started over a mess of greens, and the evidence showed that the West woman was the aggressor throughout the trouble.

Bessie Morgan, arrested Saturday for loitering, was found guilty and the mayor fined her $25 and costs.

ARREST MAY CLEAR UP BOND DISAPPEARANCE

CHICAGO, May 19.—With the arrest of Thomas Westover, formerly an inspector at a government explosive plant in West Virginia, federal agents today hoped to solve the mystery of the theft last January of $250,000 in Liberty bonds from the Shulbaker corporation of South Bend, Indiana.

Julius Robertson, a secret service operative, claims to have heard Westover and two other men discussing the theft of the bonds while on a train enroute from South Bend to Chicago a few days ago. He lost all track of the men after they left the train here, until Saturday night, when he found Westover in a downtown hotel.

According to Robertson, one of the men said that the proposition of returning the bonds had been "put up to" E. R. Erkine, president of the Shulbaker corporation, and that he declined to pay a reward for their return.

Westover will be held pending word from the corporation.

DROPS DEAD IN THE CEMETERY WHERE SHE HAD GONE TO DECORATE GRAVES

While in Greenwood cemetery Sunday morning with flowers for the graves of departed members of her family, death came very suddenly to Mrs. J. M. Leubart, of 1117 Eleventh street, widow of the late J. M. Leubart, a retired tinner and hardware dealer. Her many friends were shocked to hear of her sudden death. She was apparently in the best of health Sunday morning and attended church at Holy Redeemer. After the service she walked to Greenwood with flowers for the graves of her departed husband, daughter and son.

While in the cemetery she was stricken and died before a physician could be summoned. The coroner was called and gave as his verdict that death was caused by hemorrhage.

Mrs. Leubart was born at Hanging Rock, Ohio, September 4, 1890, and moved to Portsmouth in her early life, having been a resident of this city for more than fifty years.

She was a good, kind-hearted Christian woman and a kind and loving wife and mother and the news of her death will be learned with deep regret by her wide circle of friends.

The deceased is survived by one daughter, Mrs. E. E. Smith, of Washington, Ind., a brother, Ludwig Ulrich, and a grandson, Vivian K. Bohus, of Fourth street, this city.

Mrs. Leubart was the fourth of her family to pass to the Great Beyond within fourteen months. During this time her husband, daughter, Rosalie and a son, John P. Leubart, were laid to rest.

Funeral services have not been made, pending the arrival of her daughter, Mrs. Smith.

The price for obstetrical cases will likely be increased to $20 or $25. Local physicians claim that the fees now in effect here are 50 to 100 smaller than in other cities of this size.

What Is Americanization?

Columbus, O., May 17.—What is Americanization? Fred C. Croston, who was head of the state council of defense, says it is hard to define because it involves possession of the American spirit and ideals which all native born citizens don't have.

His definition is: "Americanization means the assimilation into the body of the American people. It means the

HAS COPY OF OLD PAPER

Colonel John M. Higgins, Seventh street, is in possession of an edition of the Ohio State Journal published in Columbus in 1851. The paper is unique from the viewpoint of its age in its style and content in that it deals with the old fashioned happenings of that time. Merchants were for sale, advertisements speak of em-broidered party dresses selling at from $15 to $20. There was an item commencing upon the issue of Curly's hair. A sign having the modern head line of "Soldiers' Attention" was followed by the notice of an act passed by Congress which gave bounty land to the officers and privates, or their heirs, of the 1812 Indian wars, Florida and Mexico wars. The land was given them in quantities according to their time in service.

Two notices were inserted for releases—the Kenyon College at Gambier and the Miami College at Oxford. Union was about $20 per annum and board was to be paid for $1.50 to $2 per week.

The paper was printed at the North East corner of High Street and "Sugar Alley," Columbus.

All the articles were written for general purposes, there was no attempt at levity and feature work was a thing unknown, but the paper was well printed and its greatest interest lay in the advertisements.
